Fact Sheet

What is RIte Care?

RIte Care is Rhode Island's health insurance program that provides eligible uninsured children, families, and pregnant women with comprehensive health care through one of three participating health plans: Neighborhood Health Plan of RI, United Healthcare of New England and Blue Cross & Blue Shield of RI. Families enroll in a health plan of their choice.

What is RIte Share?

RIte Share is a premium assistance program that helps families get health insurance coverage through their employer (or spouse's employer). If a family qualifies, RIte Share will pay for all or part of the employee's share of the health insurance premium. RIte Share also pays for co-payments in the employer's health insurance plan.

Both RIte Care and RIte Share are administered by the RI Department of Human Services and are part of the Medical Assistance Program.

Who can qualify for RIte Care or RIte Share?

- Families with children
- Children up to age 19
- Pregnant women

Eligibility for both RIte Care and RIte Share is based on income and family size. See the income guidelines in this fact sheet.

If an applicant qualifies for Medical Assistance (RIte Care or RIte Share) and if his or her employer offers a qualified health insurance plan, then the applicant will be enrolled in RIte Share. If an applicant's employer does not offer a qualified health insurance plan or the employee is not eligible to receive it or is unemployed, then the applicant will be enrolled in RIte Care.
